A newly revised edition of a 1975 classic . . .

How do 21st century humans react, confronted with comparable intelligence residing in "their" solar system? Microbiologist Tandra Grey finds new hope for an ailing Earth and her own future when she makes first contact with alien neighbors too intelligent, too nosy, and too near to ignore. Revised from its 1975 release as A Place Beyond Man (Charles Scribner's Sons), the story strikes at core issues of identity and man's role as Earth's caretaker, even more relevant today.

“A fine multi-cultural, multi-species First Contact along with a siren call to stop 'trashing our planet' in pursuit of profit and status. Bravo!

The Webs of Varok (Penscript Publishing House, 2012)—Silver Medalist, YA/Teen Fiction, Nautilus Book Awards 2013; Finalist, Science Fiction, ForeWord Book of the Year Awards 2012. Tandra Grey has left Earth for the ancient sustainable culture of Varok, with its promise of stability for her young daughter. But a genius with a hidden talent sets her eye on Varok's wealth—and Tandra's soul mates. Tandra, the elli Conn, and the varok Orram must untangle a web of deceit to restore balance for Varok and their fragile new family.

The Alien Effect (Penscript Publishing House, 2014)—Raised on the Jovian moon Varok, the young woman Shawne longs to return to Earth and help her devastated home planet build a new civilization—one that can thrive for millennia. But when she and her “mini alien invasion” set up a school in California, they face unexpected lessons in love and humanity, unaware of the long-term consequences of their collision with life on Earth.
