In an alternate 21st Century Solar System . . .

Tandra Grey has left Earth for the ancient sustainable culture of Varok, with its promise of stability for her young daughter. But a genius with a hidden talent sets her eye on Varok's wealth—and Tandra's soul mates. Tandra, the eIll Conn, and the varok Orram must untangle a web of deceit to restore balance for Varok and their fragile new family.

“. . . engaging, multi-layered, provocative, and above all relevant to the times.”

—Frank Kaminski, book reviewer for Energy Bulletin and Resilience.org

“. . . so many alien-imaginative twists, intrigues, and betrayals that the spellbound reader won't even realize s/he's being educated!” —Professor William Rees, originator of the Ecological Footprint concept

“Who knew sustainable economics could be so much fun? . . . a page-turning struggle between the eternal themes of personal accumulation vs. the common good.” —Kathy Campbell, past president, League of Women Voters New Mexico

Silver Medalist, YA/Teen Fiction—Nautilus Book Awards 2013

Finalist, Science Fiction—ForeWord Book of the Year Awards 2013

ABOUT THE AUTHOR

Cary Neeper lives in the US Southwest with her husband and a friendly menagerie of dogs, fish and fowl. An avid proponent of sustainability and steady-state economics since the 1970s, she studied zoology, chemistry and religion at Pomona College and medical microbiology at the University of Wisconsin-Madison. Cary paints landscapes in acrylics, including the cover art for The Webs of Varok.

THE ARCHIVES OF VAROK

Cary Neeper's first novel A Place Beyond Man was published in 1975 with editions from Charles Scribner's Sons, Dell, and Millington, London. Cary re-released it as an Author's Guild Backinprint edition in 2011. Its themes of sustainability and interspecies cooperation have grown into a series of adventures for its human, eIll and varok family as they travel the alternate 21st Century Solar System in the five-volume Archives of Varok, with three additional titles coming from Penscript Publishing House in 2013–2014.
